Medical Services Offered

Medical Emergency Response Plan (MERP) - RMI Guyana works closely with our clients to create a Medical Emergency Response Plan (MERP) for each project location to ensure a seamless delivery of assistance services to project personnel. Created through a regimented development process, our MERPs detail the process for evacuating an individual, starting at the point of injury or illness through to the point of case resolution. We use our internal and partner networks for asset selection and coordinate with our clients to incorporate any corporate/project assets available. Clear procedures are included for all hand-off points. At the project, medical personnel (if any) will coordinate and/or participate in emergency drills, following the pre-established MERP, in cooperation with the RMI client and the RMI global coordination team. In the event of an emergency requiring evacuation, the MERP will guide the response from the event through to resolution – whether that is the employee returning to work or being repatriated to his/her home country.
